Class of 2009

For nearly 170 years, Rush has been dedicated to care for the city of Chicago, longer than any other health care institution in the city! Rush Medical College received its charter on March 2, 1837, just days before the city of Chicago was chartered. Its founder, Dr. Daniel Brainard, names the school in honor of Dr. Benjamin Rush, the only physician with medical training to sign the Declaration of Independence.

In 1843, Rush officially opened its doors, beginning with a class of twenty two students. It was the first institution of higher learning chartered in Illinois and one of the first medical schools to open west of the Allegheny Mountains. During its first century of operation, more than 10,000 physicians received their training at Rush.

As Chicago grew, so did Rush's interaction with other budding organizations. St Luke's Hospital was established in 1864; Presbyterian Hospital began in 1883, influenced by the support of Rush faculty and the University of Chicago, with which Rush was affiliated from 1898 to 1942.

With the onset of World War II, Rush discontinued its undergraduate education. However, the library was maintained and its faculty continued to teach at the University of Illinois. In 1969, Rush Medical College reactivated its charter and joined with Presbyterian St. Luke's Hospital, which itself had been formed through a merger in 1956, to form Rush Presbyterian St. Luke's Medical Center. The original logo of Presbyterian St. Luke's was an anchor and cross, an early religious symbol. This anchor and crosspiece symbol conveyed messages of faith and hope for those at sea as early as the first century. When Rush merged with Presbyterian St. Luke's in 1969, a stylized version of the anchor was developed to remind those educated through Rush to remember the mission and values of the institution.

In 1971, Rush Medical College reopened with a class of 66 first year students and 33 third year students. Beginning in 1972, Rush Medical College has been part of Rush University, which is comprised of Rush Medical College, the College of Nursing, the College of Health Sciences, and The Graduate College. The Medical Center officially changed its name in September 2003 to Rush University Medical Center, to reflect the important role of education and research in its mission to achieve the highest standards of patient care.

THE GRADUATE COLLEGE

Congratulations Rush Medical College 2009 Graduates!

Graduation is a time of great excitement (and some relief)! It is also a time to reflect upon how far you've come. It's hard to believe that just a few short years ago you came to Rush with a desire to become a physician, and now you have realized that dream. On behalf of your entire faculty, it gives me great pride to welcome you into our noble profession.

As you transition into your next phase of training, much will be expected of you by your patients. But even more will be expected of you by your teachers – simply because you graduated from Rush. Since Rush Medical College was founded, being a “Rush physician” has historically been synonymous with superiorly well-trained, compassionate and proficient doctors, who were moral and ethical exemplars. As you receive your diplomas, it becomes your responsibility to continue this legacy.

I have every confidence that you are well prepared for your futures. But, if we, your faculty have “forgotten” to impart something that you need, or you find that you simply need a faculty member's counsel, don't forget .... 312-942-5000.

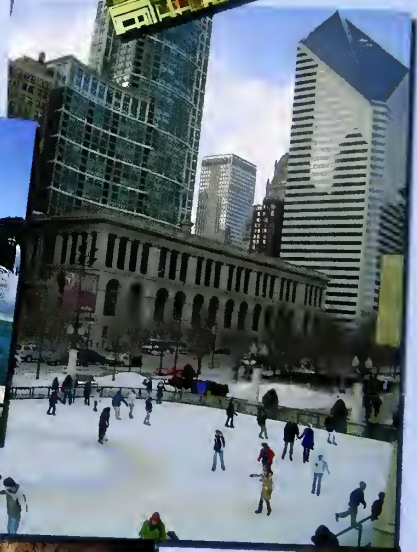

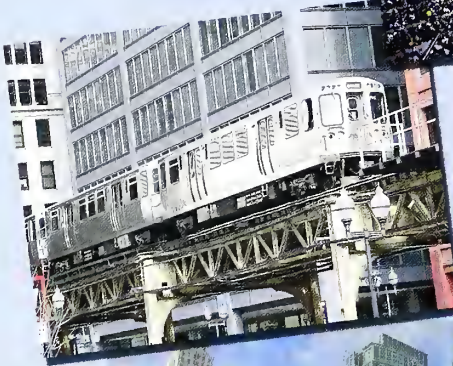

Congratulations, good luck and keep in touch!

Paul J. Jones, MD
Assistant Professor

Remembering the Many Good Times...

Running the Shamrock Shuffle in 2007 with my fellow Rush M2s • Kaufman's ass party email • three people passing out simultaneously outside of the ORs on the first day of surgery • long walks on the beach • TGIFs • Rush softball tournament • attempting to elicit an Achilles reflex on a patient that was on the bedside commode • Neha's "hey baby" Great America email • post-exam parties • Lawrence putting a foot cover on his head thinking it was a scrub cap • walking in on my resident breastfeeding in the call room • the love note Neha sent to the entire class • When a patient asked Brian Ching "what would you like on your tombstone?" To which he responded "pepperoni and cheese" • Falling asleep in lecture after eating and waking up with a mouthful of peanuts • During anatomy when Andrea Toulson and I managed to hang 16 hemostats from Molly Weiner's lab coat • the week after our final exams finished during M1/M2 years • every AMSA conference • when Jose met Paul Farmer and was all starry-eyed for the next 3 days • the trip to the Dominican Republic with Dr. Wang's group • trips to taco grill • when Dr. Michael was teaching lactation in physiology and would cup his hands every time he said the word "breast" • running the 2006 marathon • Spring Break '06 in Tampa • Jon Kaufman's mom's special bags of "sugar" • meeting the scary monsters at the Star Trek convention in our Las Vegas hotel • traveling around the country for residency interviews • being on steering committee at CHC • when patients thought you were the "real" doctor • IM football • watching the sun rise over Lake Michigan • the AMSA half page we donated to the yearbook that included Jose Gonzalez in a bunny suit, Brian Ching dressed as royalty, Rachel Osborn with 2 broken arms, and photo-shopping Nikki Joshi's head on Allison Kirk's body • making trips to North Avenue beach in the summertime for beach volleyball or drinks at Castaways • Dr. Pierce answering the phone via hands-free earpiece while operating • successfully placing my patient's a-line • spending time with the closest friends I never would have met had I not come to Rush • dancing at weddings, playing flip-cup, swimming at the lake-house • hemostating during anatomy • endless talks with Regina about boys and school and balancing our personal and professional lives • Shari and Caelan driving through the Scottish Highlands and looking for the elusive "heeland coo" • prom at Rachel's place • Shari convincing CPD to give her and Caelan a ride to Michelle's condo in the back of a squad car and then the cop slipping Caelan his phone number • Halloween shenanigans • Jose and Liza's delicious dinners • countless "misery loves company" bonding experiences • Calvin on rounds with arms akimbo and looking skyward while rubbing his lower lip with his index and middle fingers • telling the mock patient I was to perform a rectal exam on, "Hi, my name is Jose and I'm here for the rectal exam" • Molly Weiner: "who wants to go to Equator...I mean visit the Ecuador in Equator?"

and the few Bad Times...

Working 110 hours my first week of surgery at Rush North Shore and that being "okay" because the 80 hours is "averaged over 4 weeks" • locking myself in my undergrad's library for 15 hour days while I studied for the boards • the first time I saw a patient die on trauma surgery • making the commute to Aurora, Desplaines, Joliet, and Worth for clinics on any number of rotations • Dr. Jones' vaccination email that included threats of deans letter consequences and threats of getting kicked out of medical school • Dr. Strauss making me do every rectal or pelvic exam that came into the Cook County ER • ABP prices • after spending 2 hours to take a detailed history from my patient, finding out on rounds that the patient was moved to isolation for possible TB • 30 hour calls without sleeping • waiting for my Step 1 score- an insider revealed to me that the exams are individually graded by a 57 year old woman working no longer than 4 hours a day and the final results are hand delivered by camel to another USMLE employee • waiting for match results • feeling frustrated with the Stroger system and politics • all my bad times are blocked out • General Surgery • dealing with OB/GYN residents • disimpacting my patient at 2AM on my last IM call night M3 year • when Geno got pooped on • feeling the wrath of the Rush cafeteria and heading straight to "the office" • having a 90-year old lady vomit on me so hard that her dentures landed in my lap

Advice to the new doctors...

"We are treating people, not receptors."

Dr. William Miles,
Psychiatry Attending

"If you do what is best for the patient, you will never worry about the hours worked nor the money made."

Dr. John Butsch,
General Surgery Attending

Be Kind, Be Caring
Be Generous and Behave.

Dr. James M. Williams, PhD
Professor of Anatomy

"For your sake and those of your patients, adult learning is life long. It doesn't end after medical school or residency, so keep pushing yourselves."

Dr. Edmundo Cortez,
Pediatrics Attending

"In the words of the Dalai Lama: If you want others to be happy, practice compassion. If you want to be happy, practice compassion."

Dr. Robert Leven, PhD.
Histology Course Director

"It is and always will be, about your Patients. They should remain the focal point of everything you do and nothing else matters. Your devotion and dedication to them should be second to none"

Dr. Syed H. Shah
Internal Medicine Attending

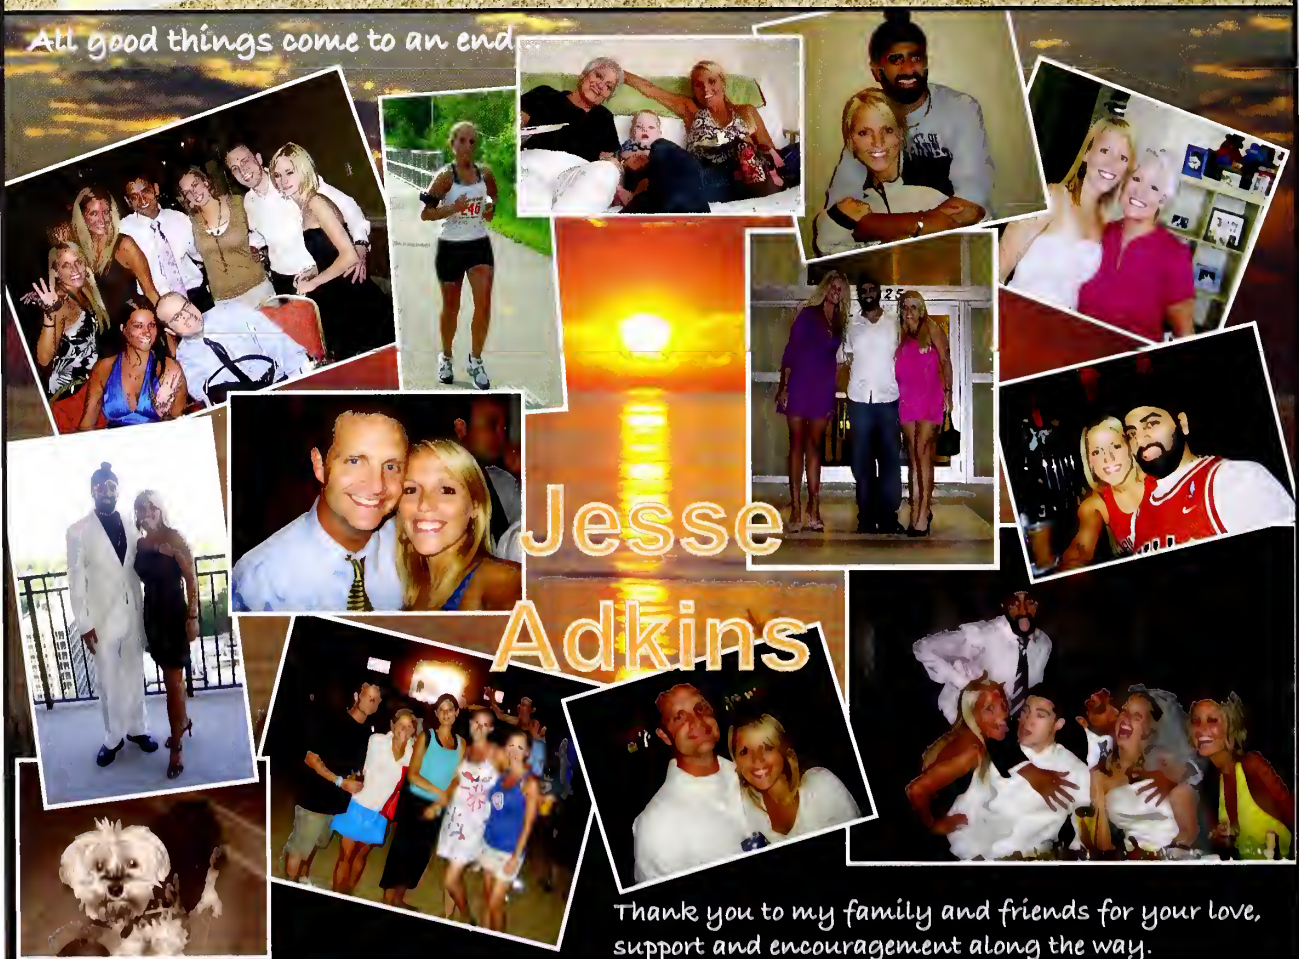

"I always encourage my students to 'QUESTION THE ANSWER' instead of accepting the answer as a gospel."

Dr. Sushil Bagri
Psychiatry Attending

"Apply the Golden Rule to medicine. Treat every patient like you would want to be treated. Talk to their families like you would expect a physician to talk to your own. Enjoy practicing medicine."

Dr. Omar Lateef,
Critical Care Attending

You know you have great parents when...

your dad finishes his beer before playing with you.

the only thing your mom's socks match is the furniture.

your mom knits your sister full body outfits.

your dad regularly sets wild animals loose in the house.

your parents convince your brother that "cowboy" is a legitimate halloween costume twice.

you're not allowed to rollerblade in the house, but your sister can ride a duck in the kitchen.

your mom hides halloween items and gives them to you for christmas.

your parents don't notice the bells palsy afflicting your sister but everyone is dressed nicely.

To:

My friends –

so many, from medical school and before,

My family –

Grandma, Grandpa, Mom, Jonathan, Dad, Sherry, Daniel, Allison, Emily, and so many more,

And Leena –

I will always be grateful for the love, support, and encouragement you have offered over the years.

~ Remember To Forget ~

Always remember to forget
The things that made you sad.
But never forget to remember
The things that made you glad.

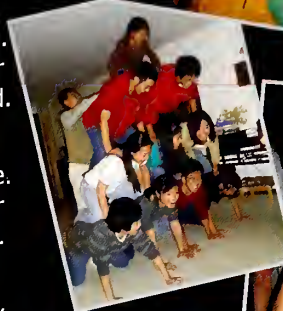

Always remember to forget
The friends that proved untrue.
But never forget to remember
Those that have stuck by you.

Always remember to forget
The troubles that passed away.
But never forget to remember
The blessings that come each day.

Doctor Nate,

We are filled with great joy and pride as we celebrate your achievement of becoming a doctor. At the early age of eight, you recognized your dream and set your goal, and after many years of hard work and determination you have arrived. You are a compassionate and caring young man and these traits will serve you well. We are blessed to have you as a son and a little brother.

We love you,

Dad, Mom, Chris and Allison

Courtney,

You have always been the sunshine of our lives. Thank you for being a wonderful, loving, kind, happy and dedicated daughter. The road to becoming an M.D. has been long and hard but you never wavered. We are very proud of what you have achieved. Congratulations. You will be a fantastic "Doc!"

Love You Forever,

"Go confidently in the direction of your dreams. Live the life you have imagined." -H.D.Thoreau-

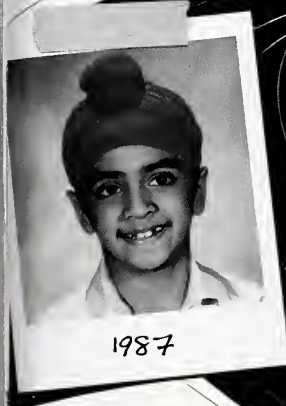

You have two angels in heaven watching over you. You know how much they wanted to be here to share this day with you. They are in our hearts forever. Mimi & Grandpa, She did it!

KENNY Duggal's Road to Success

Begin to live life according to your aspirations and step towards your chosen goal.
- Sant Darshan Singh.

Dear Kenny,
I'm so proud of you! You've made it through med school with your determination, sense of humor and your love of life in every step. You are going to be an amazing doctor, welcome to your MD. It only gets better from here.....
Congratulations!
Love Didi

Dear Kenny,

We're extremely proud
to have you as our son.
You have chosen the noble profession of medicine to serve humanity.
As a doctor, we know you will heal not only the body but also the mind, heart, and soul of all those you treat. May you bring as much joy into the lives of others as you have brought into ours. Congratulations on your magnificent achievement!

Love,
Mom and Dad

Congratulations Class of 2009!

As we bring closure to our medical school careers, we would like to extend our sincere gratitude to those who have provided us with their support in this endeavor.

A special thank you to Dr. Deutsch, Dr. Jones, the Dean's Office, the Office of Student Affairs, the Rush Photo Group, and our families for making this yearbook possible. Another thank you to Jill Gabbert, whose indelible guidance has always kept us on track.

And last but not least, thank you to our phenomenal class! This final product would not have been possible without all your wonderful contributions. It's our hope this book will help you remember the past four years with the fondest of memories.

Here's to our futures, bright with all the success and happiness that we have rightfully earned!

*Sincerely,
Your 2009 Yearbook Committee*
